A MEETING IN THE INTEREST OF SAILORS. BRIPPING AGENTS DENOUNCED - UNLAWFUL COM-MISSIONS.

Missions.

Sailors and other persons to the number of about 300 met at 3 p. m. yesterday at Coenties-slip and Front-st., and gave the sanction of their applanse to the movement recently began to save seamen the money which is now extorted from them in defiance of law by so-called middle-men or shipping agents. The meeting was held in front of the free shipping bureau recently established by the Seamen's Boarding-house Keepers' Benevolent Association, and its purpose was to pronounce approval of that institution. There were marks of that institution. There were marks of that institution and its purpose was an old truck concealed under the folds of several flags: the music-stand was another wagen with patriotic drapings. Hand-bulls and posters headed "Dewn with Blood Money!" and the music of a small street band were the means resorted to to rally the seamen from the sailors' boarding houses of the Fourth Ward. Equally simple was the order of exercises. It had been said that Congressman S. S. Cox, Senator Grady, Assemblyman Maler, Judges Brebe and McCarthy, James O'Brien, of Philadelphia, and James Oliver would address the meeting. Mr. Oliver alone appeared of the men named, but the announcement of Mr. Cox's name brought to the meeting and he was promptly pressed into service.

Mr. Oliver alone appeared of the men named, on the announcement of Mr. Cox's name brought the announcement of Mr. Cox's name brought to the meeting and he was prompily pressed into service.

Frederick Alexander, superintendent of the free bureau, presided, and without much ado presented Mr. Oliver as the first speaker. "Three cheers for 'Jimmy' Oliver', suggested by a painter on the track of the Third-ave, elevated railroad, greeted the speaker, who, after he had accepted the blushing honors, made a statement of the sailor's greeting honors, made a statement of the sailor's greeting honors, and a statement of the sailor's greeting honors, and a statement of the sailor's greeting honors, and a divance on his pay varying is usually given an advance on his pay varying is usually given an advance on his pay varying is usually given an advance on his pay varying is usually given an advance on his pay varying is usually given an advance on his pay varying is usually given an advance on his pay varying is usually given an advance and the rest of the wages pens that this advance and the rest of the wages pens that this advance and the rest of the wages him rifting sums for tobacco and other things and keeps him alive for $1 a day until he is shipped for another voyage. GLANDERS IN SOUTH ORANGE. The Board of Health of Newark held a meeting yesterday. Dr. Mandeville, the City Physician, stated in regard to the existence of gianders among the hor-es and the stables of the South Orange Horse Car Company, that children with abraded hands playing around the fountains and hitching-posts in playing around the fountains and hitching-posts in Bouth Orange were likely to be inoculated with the disease, which was surely fatal. A resolution was adopted directing the Mayor to inform Mr. Radel, the owner of the borses, that no horse must enter the city on pain of the forfeiture of the license of the city on pain of the foresture of the license of the borse-car company.

Professor Liautard, of the American Veterinary College, of West Fifty-fourth-st., New-York, visited the infected stables in company with Dr. E. M. Hunt, Dr. Charles Lawrenz, Dr. J. W. Hawk, Dr. Roland and the Heaith Physician. Professor Liautard made a therough examination of seventeen borses and pronounced each one incurably diseased with glanders, and affidavits were made by the doctors before Police Justice Ricord. Mensures will be taken at once by the State Board of Health to quarantine the horses. Three borses that were killed at the stables on Tuesday and removed by the City Scavenger and buried, were examined by veterinary surgeons yesterday and found to have been afflicted with glanders. A gentleman reported to the Board of Health that he had lost a horse which cost him $500 by glanders. The horse there were a lost of the constitution of those trees caused a delacement to the Park.

THE IRI H NATIONAL LEAGUE.

The Executive Committee of Seven of the Irish National League of America met at Manhattan Beach Hotel vesterday. In addition to the members of the committee there were present Patrick Egan and Maithew Hirris, of Ireland, and the Rev. Dr. Charles O'Reilly, of Detro t, the treasurer of the National League. The president, Alexander Sulfivan, presided. Among other subjects considered was that of "land-grabbing in the Southern and Western States and Territories by Euglish aristocrates and Euglish corporations." The committee said that it had been informed that "Euglish aristocrates" were making up for their losses in Ireland by the purchase of vast tracts of land in this country, from which they hope to draw support for their houses in England. This was denounced as detrimental to the interests of this country. THE IRI H NATIONAL LEAGUE. support for their houses in England. This was de-nounced as detrimental to the interests of this coun-try. It was stated that it "had required effort in many cases to keep the settlers of the West from driving out these English snobs." A committee was appointed with instructions to secure a complete report in each State and Territory of the quantity of lands purchased, the names of the purchasers who have purchased, and a statement showing whether or not such purchasers are citizens of the United States.

Whether or not such purchases are United States.

A resolution was adopted declaring that the League would give no aid to any lecturer who did not devote himself to League purposes. The constitution of the League was amended to provide for larger representation in the Municipal Council.

The State Committee of each State was requested call conventions and secure a complete organiza-

THE CONTRACTORS SLOWLY YIELDING. The few remaining cloak-makers who are now on strike are awaiting confidently the submission of strike are awaiting confidently the submission of such of the contractors as have not yet acceded to their demands. They are coming in slowly, several more signatures to the schedules having been obtained yesterday. Of the 240 contractors whose employes struck, there are now not more than seventy-five who refuse to sign the schedules. Of these, it is authorpated that a majority, if not all, will sign to-day. Negotiations to that effect are now pending. One of the strikers said: "The contractors are not the kind of men who love to lose money, and they see now that they must give in sooner or later, so we are certain that they'll give in pretty soon." The Mannattan Suit and Cloak Company is now the only firm of manufacturers holding out.

NOT TO BE DEEMED PAUPERS.

NOT TO BE DEEMED PAUPERS.

The Board of Aidermen, yesterday in response to a petition from a committee of the Grand Army of the Republic passed a resolution declaring that some person, ther than a member of the Department of Charities and Correction, should be appointed Superintendent of Military Interments. There is a law what the heirs of any soldier, sailor or marine bonorably discharged from the United States service, who does not leave sufficient property to bury him, may claim $50 from the county for such purpose. It is intended that the deceased person shall not be classed as a pauper. No appointment has yet been made.

PUBLISHING THE SESSION LAWS.

The Board of Aidermen yesterday balloted to see which of the daily newspapers should be authorized to publish the session laws passed by the last Legislature. The acc prescribes that the laws shall be printed in two daily newspapers, representing the two political parties. There was some question whether evening papers were eligible. It was finally decided that they were, Edward Dufly said whether evening papers were engine. It was ally decided that they were, Edward Dully said that there were two Democratic parties, and there should be a paper for each. [Laughter.] When the ballot was taken the teller, Mr. Kirk, announced that there were twenty-two ballots cast, while there were only twenty members of the Board present. President Reilly expressed his surplise, and announced that the roll would be called and each member would vote as his name was called by the pierk. The roll-call showed that only nineteen members had voted. The result of the ballot was as follows: The Star, 17 votes; THE TRIBUNE, 8; Times, 5; Commercial Advertiser, 4; World, 2; Telegram, 1. THE TRIBUNE and The Star, having received the highest number of votes, will receive the contract for printing the session laws.

TWO DEATHS IN A CESSPOOL AT PASSAIC. SACRIFICING THEIR LIVES TO SAVE OTHERS-FREE.

HOLDER CUNKLING'S CAREER. Foul sir in a cesspool caused the death of Choses

Holder Gunkling's Career.

Foul air in a cesspool caused the death of Chosen Preeholder George W. Conking and a painter named George Krynor at Passaic, N. J., yesterday, Conkling died in an altempt to rescue a laborer named John Daig from the suffectung vapors of the cesspool, and Krynor perished in trying to save Conkling. The cesspool was connected with an older one which received the drainage from George Rettinger's Hotel at Passaic and William sts., the cesspools being under the surface of the latter street. The pipes leading from the older cesspool to the other had evidently become clogged, so that the newer receptacle did not get the overflow from the old one. This was made clear by the backing up of waste water into Kettinger's Hotel. John Daig, who is employed by Rettinger, opened the newer cesspool and discovered as had been surmised, that the pipes were clogged. There were a few inches of offensive matter at the bottom, which was reached after digging about twelve feet.

Daig out a ladder and descended into the excavation to clear out the pipes. He had been down only a short time when he was overcome by the fool gases and fell to the reeking ground. Fresholder George W. Conkling, who was passing by, saw a cluster of excited people about the mouth of the pit and finding whatiwas the matter he volunteered to descend to the rescue. He tooks rope, and as he went down the ladder, he was warned by the bysignders to the the rope around Daig's waist, and supporting his unconscious burden had just put his foot upon the lower round of the ladder to return when he was smitten by the mephitic vapors and fell heavily into the filth of the pool. The unconscious Daig who was fast to the rope, was hasled to the sarface and resuscitated with great difficulty. Meanwhile, George Krynor, a painter, who had been working on a new school building near by, sprang to the edge of the flatal pit. He held his breath, rapidly descended the ladder, and had just secured a held upon the prostrate body of Conking when he, too, fainte a great throng of excited and horror-stricken people.

George W. Conkling had for some years been prominent in politics in the City and County of Passaic as a Republican. He was born in Jersey City July 19, 1829, and was educated as an architect, and this, together, with that of a carpenter and builder, was his occupation up to the time of his death. He had represented the Township of Lodin the Bergen County Board or Chosen Freeholders from 1863 to 1865. Later he removed to Passaic and was elected to the Common Council from the Second Ward in 1869 and 1870. He was elected to the Passaic County Board of Precholders to represent the Second Ward of Passaic in 1878, and by successive re-elections held that office up to the time of his death. He was elected to the Neaderstring John Kennell, Democrat, by 394 majority. And the following year he was re-elected over R. A. Halev, Democrat, by 13. While in the Legislature he served as enairman of the Committee on Engrossed Bilis and was a member of two other committees. He had been foreman of the County Grand Jury. He was one of the best known men and most active political workers in Passaic. Mr. Co.kling leaves a wife and five adult children.

CUTTING DOWN TREES IN CENTRAL PARK. WHAT MR. JONES DID IN SPITE OF MR. PARSONS'S DIRECTIONS.

The Commissioners of the Department of Public Parks heid their regular weekly meeting yesterday at No. 26 Union-square, all the Commissioners being present, and Commissioner Olific presiding. A resolution was adopted instructing Chief-Engineer Van Winkle to place sufficient steam power at the terminus of the Madison Avenue Bridge to operate the draw and work the electric light system. The bridge will not be completed before January next. It was decided to open Ryer-ave, from One-hundred and thirty-lifthest, to One-hundred-and-forty-first-st. The treasurer was instructed to procure estimates in regard to the cost of a dynamo machine for the purpose of lighting the bridge over the Harlein River at the terminus of the elevated railroad. A resolution was offered by Mr. Viels directing that plans be prepared for the improvement of the liarlein River front in connection with the improvement of that stream under the plans prepared by order of The Commissioners of the Department of Public

The Commissioners then went into executive session, when a letter from the supermendent of planting, Samuel Parsons, Jr., was read. He complained that Ancurin Jones, supermement of Ceutral Park, had ordered certain trees cut down without his consent, and that the desiruction of those trees caused a defacement to the Park.

In conversation with a Transvereporter, Commissioner Ohlfe sand: "Mr. Parsons is merely superintendent of planting, Mr. Pischer has charge of the trees. Three were cut down. Two of these were dying and one was merely a seedling. They were in front of the Spa, a building recently erected, and obstructed the view. Mr. Jones, be ore ordering the cutting down, consulted Mr. Pischer and two of the Commissioners. I will not give you the manes, but you may say the letter was addressed to me, and was by me submitted to the Board. No action has as yet been taken in the matter." taken in the matter."

MR. PARSON'S COMPLAINT.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

SIR: I send you herewith a copy of a communication addressed last week to the president of the Park Department in regard to cutting down trees contrary to my instructions, as I learn that it was not read at the public meeting to-day. Respectivity,

Superintendent of Pianting, D. P. P.

New-York, August 1, 1883.

Mr. William M. Olliffe, President D. P. P.
Dear Sia: I find tais morning, on making my regular tour of inspection of the Park, that soveral nealthy, vigorous tree, inclinding a fine spection of American elm, all just north of the Mineral Springs, have been cut down by order of the superintendent, in opposition to my direct injunctions to the contrary. As superintendent of plantancies of the Park, and I therefore report these facts to your Board, as it is evident that I cannot continue to hold the position with a superintendent who acts contrary to my instructions. Respectfully, Sam't Parsons, Jr., Superintendent of Planting.

THE CONFIRMATION OF THE TAX LEVY.

Alderman Cochrane at the meeting of the Board yesterday offered a resolution providing that a copy of the assessors' tax books of each ward, when corrected according to law, should be delivered by the president of the Board to the Receiver of Taxes on or before September I, together with the warrants under the hands and seals of the Board of Aldermen. The aggregate valuations as corrected by the Board of Aldermen are then to be certified and mailed to the State Controller. The resolution was adopted. Later, General Cochrane called up the tax lists, which must be approved by the Board. President Keilly decided that it required eighteen votes to confirm the tax lists, and the roll-call showed only fourteen members present. Meanwhile a resolution was passed declaring that when the Board adjourn it adjourn to September 5, but the resolution was rescinded and the date of adjournment changed to August 22. President Reilly explained that for many years the tax lists had been confirmed late in August or September. In case the tax levy is confirmed at an early date it would make some difference in the receipts of taxes, as a rebate is allowed if they are paid before December 1. THE CONFIRMATION OF THE TAX LEVY.

THE LAWRENCE NICHOLS INQUEST.

The inquest in the case of Lawrence Nichols, the young truck-driver who was stabbed by Daniel Lilis in a street-brawl at Hudson and Watts sts., last Saturday night, was held by Coroner Martin yesterday. Several witnesses were introduced in addition to those who have already testified in the case, to show that Lilis and a companion named James O'Connor deliberately provoked a quarrel with Henry Nichols, the brother of the victim, and when the latter went to the assistance or his brother he was stabbed by Lilis. The evidence of Lilis's guilt as conclusive, and the vertict of the THE LAWRENCE NICHOLS INQUEST. Lillis's guilt as conclusive, and the vertice of the jury was rendered in accordance with the facts. They also recommended that O'Connor should be held as an accessory. Coroner Martin committed Lillis to the Tombs without bail, and held O'Connor in default of $1,000 bail.

CARING FOR TWO MOTHERLESS BABES. When Inspector Etchier, of the Board of Emigration, was observed coming into the rotunds of Castle Garden early yesterday morning with a child on each arm, each endeavering to sustain life from improvised nursing bottles containing diluted condensed milk, he was greeted with a round of applause alike from employes and immigrants.

Preserving the equanimity of a mother be registered the children as assisted immigrants, and as they were unable to write or to make their mark his statement, supported by the father of the babes, was accepted. Leonhard Wunsch, a German, with his wife, left Hamburg on the steamship Polania on July 18. Five days afterward Mrs. Wunsch gave birth to two boy babies. The mother lingered until July 27, when she died of purepreal fever, and was buried at sea. After the mother's death the father took care of the children and nursed them from the bottle, and when they arrived there was every evidence that they had not been neglected. The father's destination was Milwaukee, and thither he was allowed to go, while Superintendent Jackson sent the new arrivals to Ward's Island, to be cared for until October, when, Wursch promised, they would be reclaimed by his sister.

A GREAT ENGINEERING TASK.

THE BEDLOE'S ISLAND COLOSSUS. PROGRESS OF THE WORK ON THE PEDESTAL-EX CAVATIONS TO BE FINISHED THIS WEEK.

General Stone has been anxious recently about the slow progress made in the work of excavation on Bedioc's Island. The extraordinary character of the old subterranean structures there, while it has greatly delayed operations has however, reassured him in some degree as to the boutom for the foundation of the pedestal for the colossal Statue of Liverty to be erected. Although the weight of the bomb-proofs and cuterns may be nothing in comparison with the weight which is to be placed there, yet they were so massive and so ponderous that only a good bottom could have sustained them without the sinking even a fractional part of an inch as has been the case. The excavation is now completed on the northern side, and one can easily trace the line of the concrete upon which the foundation of these underground works rested, and it is clear that it did not move a particle. The engineer who built old Fort Wood evidently satisfied himself of the solidity of the bottom before he commenced his labors. General Stone says that he is satisfied that there is a perfect bottom for his foundation, but in a work of importance it is necessary to make assurance doubly sure for the benefit of others who might not feel the same certainty as himself.

On the southern side of the excavation, which is ninety feet square and sixteen feet deep, the contractor is now at work upon 'he intractor's now at work of intractor is now at work of intercors in the contractor is now at work of intercors in the contractor is now at work of intercors in the contractor is now at work of intercors in the contractor is now at work of intercors in the contractor is now at work of intercors in the contractor is now at work of intercors in the contractor is n General Stone has been anxious recently abou others who might not feel the same certainty as himself.

On the southern side of the excavation, which is ninety feet square and sixteen feet deep, the contractor is now at work upon the intractable eistern. This is built in two sections united in the centre by a thick wal of brick with an opening through which the waters could flow. The snape of the cistern is that of a double cylinder. The side of the northern cylinder was pierced and the water run into the great drain which passes underneath the ramparts and communicates with the bay. This emotived the cistern to the level of the drain, but as the former is much deeper a pump has been rigged and an Italian works at it vigorously all day long excepting at the intervals when assaults with nitrogiverine are made upon the walls. The walls are of brick and cement, and are dishearieningly sout. They are too soft to be rent apart by any explosives, and too strong to be worked with a pick-axe. The only possible way is to shatter them with numerous charges of nitro-giverine, fired simultaneously by electricity along the whole line of the walls. Then the persuasive influences of the crowour are brought into play, and the wall is removed in masses, for nothing can separate the bricks and cement. Annoying as the delay is, for the concrete cannot be laid after the frost makes its appearance, General Stone expressed to a Tribung reporter his hearty admiration of the minner in which the fort was built. "Uncle Sam," said the General, "is generally well served by his engineers but here he was particularly well served by his engineers but here he was particularly well served by his engineers but here he was particularly well served with a carriers as that a scow of the largest size can bring. I must creet a treate from the dock to the rampart, put on that a traumway furnished with carriers, have a steam engine to lift it from the geow to the tramway, and have derricks armed with huge vessels to shoot it into the excavation."

So saving General Stone threw away the end of a cigarette he was smoking, and meeting the contractor gave sim orders to put on fifty more liminars, to give up the carting business, and at all hazards to have, the work finished by Saturday night. He doubted, however, if he could get it done in that time, but was not quite sure that it was impossible, as was asserted by some visitors to the fort who were faminar with construction work of a heavy character. General Stone wishes to have his portuga made on next Monday; these he now regards as merely perfunctory, a precaution and no more, so that he may be enabled to make a full report to the Executive Committee, and obtain its orders for the immediate prosecution of the laying of the concrete and the preliminary constructions which will be necessary. It is not known whether a contract will be given for the concrete, and another for the stonework of the pedestai, or whether theneral Stone will be directed to do the work himself. The latter course may be adopted, because contractors for neavy construction to do the work himself. The latter course may or adopted, because contractors for neavy construction of this character will not bid or the concrete alone or for the stonework alone. They say that the pre-liminary constructions are so expensive that no man can afterd to put them up for haif the job, and then take them down and give place to another man who will then have to put up his own.

Mayor Edson contracted a cold at Long Branch on Saturday evening, and Sun lay and yesterday he was not at the City Hall. He will probably be well enough to attend to business to-day.

WHY SOME STREET CARS ARE NOT USED.

The Third Avenue Surface Railread Company has recently withdrawn some of its cars on the branch running to the Grand Central Depot and through Leangton-ave. The president, Lewis Lyon, in reply to an inquiry as to the cause of the withdrawal of the cars, said that it was customary among all, or nearly all, the city surface reads to reduce the force during summer, as the travel was then much lighter, so many people being out of the city. "This difference is not so marked on the Third Avenue Line proper," said he, "as the people that patrenize it do not leave the city to such an extent. On most cross-town surface lines the officers will tell you there is a great difference between summer and winter travel."

a "Has the reduction of fares by the Fourth Avenue road to 5 cents affected your Grand Central Branch 1" the reporter asked.

"That branch is used by a special class of travellers to whom it is convenient. It does not pay; few WHY SOME STREET CARS ARE NOT USED.

"That branch is used by a special class of travellers to whom it is convenient. It does not pay; few branch roads ev r do pay. It does not pay; few of pullanthropy, but if the best interests of the company were considered the branch road would probably be cut off entirely. We have taken off about a third of the cars of the branch road for the month of August, but in September they will be put back again."

THE CIGAR-MAKERS' LOCK-OUT UNBROKEN. THE CIGAR-MAKERS LOCK-OUT UNBROKEN.
The "tug of war" between the cigar manufacturers and their locked-out employes continues, neither sine maving gained any advantage. The manufacturors show no signs of weakness, and none of them have as yet signified their intention of opening their shops and paying the $1,000 forfeit. Money continues to come in to the Progressive Union. The assessments from the various unions amount to $6,000 weekly, and the union men employed by Messrs. Stratton & Storms have offered about $700 a week while the strike lasts. Up to this time the full benefit of $5 weekly has been paid to the members who are out, and the union is able, according to Secretary Woytiesk, to pay it for an indefinite time.
